2. Data processed from website visitors

In the course of your visit to our website we collect the following information: date and time you call up a page on our website, your IP address, name and version of your web browser and certain cookies (see below). We do not process and store your personal data (name, address, phone number, e-mail address, academic degree, date of birth, language, means of payment, personal preferences).

The legal basis for the processing of data of a simple website visit is our overriding legitimate interest (in accordance with Art. 6 Para. 1 letter f GDPR), which is to achieve the purposes mentioned under 3.

Internet-based or wireless data transmissions generally have security gaps, which, despite extensive efforts, do not allow absolute protection to be guaranteed. Furthermore, the public – and thus also the website operators – is often unaware of the extent to which and for what purposes globally active companies such as Facebook, Google, Microsoft & Co. collect, store and use data.

This website contains applications and plug-ins as well as links to third party websites, which are outside our area of responsibility under data protection law. By clicking on a link, you will be directed to the websites of third parties who may process personal data when you access the website.

3. Cookies

Our website uses so-called cookies. These are small text files that are stored on your end device with the help of the browser. They do not cause any damage. We use cookies to make our offer user-friendly. Some cookies remain stored on your device after you leave our website until you delete them. They enable us to recognise your browser on your next visit.

If you do not wish this, you can set up your browser to inform you about the setting of cookies and to allow this only in individual cases. The settings required for this differ depending on the browser and terminal device; you can usually find corresponding instructions in the "Help" of the device or browser.

If cookies are deactivated, the functionality of our website may be limited.

5. Google analytics

In order to duly improve our website and our offer for you and to correct errors, we use the web analysis tool Google Analytics.

On our website, analysis tools are used to collect general information about the usage behaviour of visitors. This includes, for example, pages called up, length of stay, referring pages and general information about your computer system such as operating system, screen resolution, browser used, etc. All collected data is stored anonymously and does not allow any assignment to your person. The IP address transmitted by your browser within the framework of Google Analytics is not merged with other data from Google. If you do not agree with this anonymous recording of your usage behaviour, you can prevent this by deactivating cookies in your browser.

The information generated by the cookie about your use of this website is usually transferred to a Google server in the USA and stored there. However, if IP anonymisation is activated on this website, your IP address will be shortened by Google within member states of the European Union or in other states which are party to the Agreement on the European Economic Area. Only in exceptional cases will the full IP address be transferred to a Google server in the USA and shortened there.

You can object to the anonymous data processing by the aforementioned web analysis tools at any time, so that your visits to our website will not be recorded in the future.

This requires the activation of so-called "opt-out cookies". Please click on the following links if you wish to object to the pseudonymous data processing: Opt-Out for Google Analytics:
